In the best interest of your pet's health, every anesthetic procedure includes:

- Administration of pain medication before surgery
- Administration of sedation before surgery
- EKG Heart Monitoring during surgery
- Blood Oxygen (SpO2) monitoring during surgery
- Physical Exam before anesthesia

.....

WE RECOMMEND THE FOLLOWING FOR AN ADDITIONAL FEE

PRE-ANESTHETIC BLOOD TESTING

Our greatest concern is your pet, and while we perform a physical exam some things such as liver, kidney, or blood disorders can not be detected without a blood test. Abnormalities of any of these increase the risks involved. We strongly recommend this test.

- Please Check:       Yes, I want the blood screen
 No, I don't want the blood screen

PAIN RELIEF MEDICATION

Surgery can be painful for many pets for a time period after the surgery. We provide short term injectable pain relief included with any surgery; however, if you choose we can also provide oral pain medication to be sent home with your pet.

- Please Check:       Yes, I want the pain relief
 No, I don't want the pain relief

IV FLUID THERAPY DURING ANESTHESIA

Anesthesiologists now recommend IV Fluid administration for pets undergoing anesthetic to:

1. maintain blood pressure, reducing potential risks to organs, and
2. provide a quick routine emergency drug in case of emergency.

We require IV catheters/fluids for lengthy surgeries; however, you may choose to have this done for elective surgeries also.

- Please Check:       Yes, I want the IV Fluid Therapy
 No, I don't want the IV Fluid Therapy

LASER THERAPY

Deep penetrating light allows pain relief through the release of endorphins and stimulates the cells to heal faster.

- Please Check:       Yes, I want laser therapy
 No, I don't want laser therapy

E-COLLAR

Protect your pet from self mutilation (licking/chewing at suture site)

- Please Check:       Yes, I want E-collar
 No, I don't want E-collar

I understand there is always a risk involved with any surgical procedure. I also understand and realize that results are not guaranteed.
